

normal positions. And since dogs, in the act of shaking themselves, are off-guard, the fact of one doing this a fight seems possible, means the fight has been abandoned.

The carriage of a dog's head conveys a lot of information.

Compare the high and cocky carriage of a courting dog with the bottom of the ear.

Trim the inside of the ear and that part of the neck which it covers fairly closely to enable the ear to hang flat and close

4. Trim hair from the under-part of the jaw and neck evenly.

5. Trim brisket slightly to avoid a bushy effect.

Dogs are the only animal that has such a strong attachment to man. They, too, have an affinity with the territory to which they have become accustomed and may become quite deeply disturbed if their routine is upset by a change of surroundings, but the presence of
